IB Theatre
Internal Assessment
Collaborative Project

Internal Assessment Tasks:

1. Students collaboratively create and present an original piece of theatre (lasting 13–15 minutes) to a specified target audience from a starting point selected by the ensemble.

2. They submit a process portfolio (15 pages maximum) which documents their own individual approaches and skills, the exploration of the starting point selected by the ensemble, the nature of the collaboration and the student’s individual contribution to the creation and presentation of the piece of theatre.

3. The student submits a video recording (4 minutes maximum) in support of the process portfolio which the student selects from the unedited video recording of the created piece.

Perspective—all students approach this task in the role of collaborative creators of original theatre within an ensemble.

Aim—the aim of this task is for students to:

• participate in the collaborative process of creating an original theatre piece for presentation

• examine and research processes of collaboratively creating original pieces of theatre

• examine their own skills and approaches

• analyse their contributions, artistic choices and contributions to the collaborative process of creating and staging a piece of original theatre.

Understandings—through this exploration students will understand:

• the importance of research to inspire and develop an original theatre piece from a starting point

• the nature of collaboration in theatre

• the artistic processes and skills necessary to collaboratively create original theatre and how these are realized in production

• the impact of their individual contributions and artistic choices.
Assessing the task:

Students undertake the following process for assessment.

Theatre in Context:

- Each student reflects on their own personal context, identifying their own approaches, interests and skills in theatre, with a view to using this information to determine who they will collaborate with for this project
- Each student researches the work of a professional company that creates and stages original pieces of theatre (not already studied in depth as part of the theatre course) and examines the approaches employed by the professional company. The research may take a variety of forms, such as websites, published articles, direct communication with the company, interviews and experiences of practical workshops, for example
- In light of the process above, students form groups (ensembles) of no more than six people with whom to collaboratively create. Each ensemble collaboratively selects a starting point (idea, issue, theme, non-dramatic text, music, object, image, event or site) that they feel has potential for development into an original piece of theatre
- Each student researches the selected starting point, identifying its theatrical possibilities and presenting this to the ensemble
- The ensemble uses the research to formulate their intentions for the piece. They select a target audience and identify their intended impact on this target audience
- Each student documents this in their theatre journal, paying particular attention to their individual approach, research and contribution to the collaborative process
Theatre Processes

- Each ensemble explores the starting point practically, developing ideas for the final piece
- Each student leads the ensemble through a practical exploration of artistic ideas based on their research, interests and skills. This exploration may be in terms of creating, designing, directing or performing material
- The ensemble collaboratively develops and structures a piece of theatre from their exploration and rehearse this
- Each ensemble is responsible for the construction of any technical or scenic production elements, such as set-building, rigging and other designed elements for their collaborative piece. This is approached with clear attention to health and safety requirements
- Each student documents this in their theatre journal, paying particular attention to their contribution to the collaborative process

Presenting Theatre

- The collaboratively created original piece of theatre (13-15 minutes) is presented to an audience as a fully realized production. Following the presentation, each ensemble holds a talkback session with the audience to gauge the impact the piece had and to begin assessing the extent to which the piece fulfilled the ensemble’s intention
- A maximum of 4 minutes of video recordings is then selected by each student from the video recording of their whole 13-15 minute production
- Each student reflects on the collaborative creation of the piece as well as on the final presentation of the original piece of theatre to an audience, making reference to key moments demonstrated in the video recording and explaining how decisions made during the collaborative process came to fruition in the presentation. They also reflect on the process of collaboration, its benefits and its challenges
- They analyze their individual contributions and justify the artistic choices they made. They consider the impact the piece has had on their target audience and the extent to which their individual contribution supported the ensemble’s intentions and vision of the piece

Using the Theatre Journal in this task: Students should use their theatre journal to document their skills, interests and approaches and the way the ensemble has been formed. They record their research into professional theatre companies that collaboratively create original theatre and their initial responses to the starting point. They record their contribution to the process of exploring the starting point and creating, designing and presenting the original theatre piece, paying particular attention to the specific explorations led by the students individually as well as their experiences of collaborating. From the journal the students will select, adapt and present for submission an annotated selection of their research and exploration as the basis for the process portfolio, focusing on clearly communicating their processes, the nature of collaboration and justification for their choices.
Identifying the starting point:

The starting point must be selected from one of the following:

- An event
- Idea, issue, question or theme
- Image or photograph
- Non-dramatic text
- Object
- Person
- Piece of music
- Site
- Street art, graphic novel or comic strip

Structuring the Process Portfolio:

The process portfolio may be up to 15 pages in length and can contain a variety of materials in different formats (such as text, visuals, diagrams and so on) depending on the nature of the project. It should demonstrate the dynamic stages of a creative process, preparation, action, reflection.

Any illustrations, charts, mind maps, visuals, diagrams, or designs used within the portfolio must be clearly annotated and appropriately referenced to acknowledge the source (MLA Format).

The Process Portfolio should contain a table of contents (which is excluded from the page count) and all pages, should be numbered. The main body of the process portfolio should be structured using the following subheadings:

- My personal context and my research into a professional company that creates and stages original pieces of theatre
- The formation of my group and our exploration of the starting point (including our target audience and intentions for the piece)
- Reflections on the collaborative development of our piece and the specific explorations led by me
- My contribution to the final 13-15 minute presentation, the impact on the audience and my artistic choices (as seen in the video)

Students are required to submit a separate list of all sources cited (MLA format)
Formal requirements of the task

Each student submits for assessment:

* A process portfolio (15 pages maximum which includes)
  - The student’s identification of their own approaches, interests and skills in theatre and research into the approaches used by a professional company that creates and stages original pieces of theatre (not already studied in depth as part of the theatre course)
  - The student’s account of the formation of the ensemble and the exploration of the starting point selected by the ensemble, which includes identifying the target audience and intentions of the piece
  - The student’s reflection on the collaborative development, structuring and preparation of the piece for presentation and the specific artistic explorations, led by the student
  - The student’s evaluation of their own contribution to the final 13-15 minute presentation, the extent to which the piece fulfilled its intentions, the impact it had on the audience and the analysis and justification of their specific artistic choices (as evidenced in the video recording outlined below)

- A video recording (4 minutes maximum) evidencing the student’s contribution to the presentation of the collaboratively created piece; the selected footage must be chosen by the student and must demonstrate artistic choices made by the student; it can be either one continuous shot or can be from two different moments (maximum) in the presentation; the combined total submitted must not exceed 4 minutes of footage for each student
- A list of all sources cited (MLA format)
